VOL. III TROPICO, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 11, 1913 No. 17

BOARD OF TRUSTEES MEET IN REGULAR SESSION ON THURSDAY EVENING

Monthly Reports Submitted for Approval and Disscussion. Bills Presented and Allowed. Light Company Asked Why No Local Office

TRUSTEES WILL CONSIDER WATER RATE

Representatives From the Water Company Are Invited To Be Present At the Next Meeting To Conferr With Board

The Board of Trustees met Thursday evening with a full board present. This being the first meeting of the month, reports of officers were presented.

Colonel Fishback, City Clerk, during the absence of Mr. Street, presided at the desk with all the "sang froid" of the old veteran clerk in the halls of Congress.

Judge Melrose's report showed a collection by him from fines of $93 for the month.

J. W. Gould had collected $30.

C. L. Jennings, Building Inspector, had turned into the city treasury $65.82 for building, electric and plumbing permits; the Street Superintendent, $2.

The City Treasurer's report was as follows:

General fund—Balance on hand April 30, 1913, $2953.03; receipts for month, $270.82; total $3232.85. Disbursements on warrants, $1,306.28; balance on hand May 30, $1917.57.

Library fund—Balance April 30 $631.32; no receipts; disbursements for month, $225.04; balance May 30, $406.28.

The City Clerk reported as follows:

Balance May 1, $2662.19; received from Recorder for month, $93; from Street Superintendent, $2; from Marshal, $30; from Building Inspector, $65.82; total, $2853.01. Disbursements, $730.53. Balance May 30, $2122.48.

Building permits issued: M. Glora, residence, $2000; Pacific Home Builders, residences, $3000, $3000, $3000, $3000, $3000; W. R. Blair, $1500; Leigh Bancroft, $1750; A. P. Stone, garage, $250. Permits for alterations and additions issued to bring total permits for month up to $21,685.

Receipts for plumbing permits amounted to $24.50 for the month and permits for the electric lighting $14.82.

The following bills were allowed and warrants for same ordered drawn: Ed. W. Lynch, City Engineer, $64.70; C. L. Jennings, Building Inspector, $50; Tropico Civic Club, $22.21; W. V. Frank, $23.50.

The application of Mr. Light to erect a house on the rear of his lot, which was applied for last meeting and referred, was refused.

F. A. Calkins, through his attorneys demanded the payment of $150 for the broken automobile axle which he claims to have broken on Glendale avenue about two weeks back. This was referred to the City Attorney for attention.

Dr. Mabry stated that a number of complaints had been made to him by people in different parts of the city to the effect that the roosters crowed too early of a morning and asked if the Board had any remedy to suggest. Irving H. Oliver, the Campine expert, always on the job, had a remedy all prepared right off the bat. He says that if you will build your roosts close enough to the roof of the chicken house to prevent Mr. Rooster from standing erect that he will be the most quiet and well behaved rooster imaginable.

As the present contract with the water company will expire on the first of the month the following resolution was passed:

Moved that the City Attorney prepare an ordinance fixing the water rates to present to the Board at its meeting next week and that the City Clerk notify the water company that the question of fixing the water rate will be taken up by the Board at its meeting June 12, and that the water company will be given a hearing on the subject at that time.

Complaint having been made that the light company was not complying with the provisions of its franchise, inasmuch as the company was not maintaining an office in Tropico for the receipt of service bills, the City Clerk was instructed to write the company and request them to comply with such ordinance; that is, to maintain an office in this locality where electric light bills may be paid, and to inform the company that the Board desired to know whether they expected to consider this neglect a violation of the representations of the company at the time the franchise was granted

MEMORIAL DAY.

I was slowly walking through your beautiful city, turning over in my mind the possible effect upon my business of the changes in the tariff, the anti-alien land law, and various kindred subjects, when I heard the beautiful strains of the Battle Hymn of the Republic rolling out on the quiet street. I noted the building with its G. A. R. above the door and, entering quietly, I took a seat well in the rear. At first I felt strangely out of place among those old boys in blue, but apologized to myself because Dad—he was with Sherman. As they swung into the last verse I somehow caught on and (strange, too, after so many years) I remembered the words. Somehow, those blue backs in front of me reminded me of—when Dad marched away. I was only a little shaver then—but, wait, there is the chaplain reading a prayer. The blue shoulders are bent; the gray heads are inclined. They listen to the prayer of "one of the boys." I'm listening, too, but it sounds like old Parson Grayson on the Sunday before Dad's regiment left home. How proud I was that day. How their muskets flashed in the sun and how big and strong they looked, and my Dad was in the front rank. Oh! I was only a little shaver then, but—"the flag." That was the title of the oration, and the boy did it well. I listened; I applauded! It reminded me of the flag Dad carried. Dad was the color bearer. They dropped Dad three times with minie balls at Selma. He didn't get up the third time. The regiment came home with the flag pretty well shot to pieces. Dad's down there.

But I must have dozed, for the speakers seems well into his remarks. "Comrades, when Abraham Lincoln's entire cabinet pleaded with him to refrain from issuing the Emancipation Proclamation, he raised his hand above his head and said, "Gentlemen, I promised the Almighty God I'd do it." Those are the speaker's words. I didn't doze any more. I listened. I saw many handkerchiefs go up at the mention of the boys in the advance guard gone above. I saw many a blue back tremble at mention of the girl I left behind me. I saw many a gray head straighten up at the mention of "Grant," and I squared my own shoulders at the mention of "Sherman." You know, Dad was with Sherman. Mother used to have Dad's picture alongside of Sherman's in the parlor back home and on Decoration Day both pictures were draped with one flag—yes, it's "Nearer My God to Thee" they're singing. My glasses are so steam covered I can hardly see my watch, but I know I have to keep an appointment at four, so I must leave you. Somehow I step lighter. The rest in there for an hour or so did me good, and I felt pretty much at home after awhile. You know, Dad—he was with Sherman.

A SON OF A VETERAN.

Dr. Roy V. Hogue announces in this issue to the readers of this paper that he is now nicely settled in his new quarters on the second floor of the new First National Bank building, where he will conduct a general practice of dentistry. Dr. Hogue is formerly of Denver, Colo., and came to California to settle. While looking up a location he became a member of the faculty of the College of Dentistry of the University of California. Glendale and Tropico looked promising and the new bank building offered the opportunity. Mr. Hogue will make his home in Tropico in the near future.

SHOULD BEAUTIFY HOMES

The People of Tropico Have Wonderful Opportunities for Beautiful Homes

Tropico has the finest soil in nutritive qualities for growing plants, for vegetables, and especially for those supremely beautiful gifts of God to mankind, "Nature's Smiles," the flowers.

As one goes along the streets of this city it is apparent to the most casual observer that floral beauties grow easily in riotous profusion, and that with a minimum of labor one may obtain almost perfect specimens.

The soil cannot be excelled, the water is abundant, the eternal sunshine is gloriously in evidence, and the climate is so mild the year through that the combination cannot be beaten anywhere on the face of the earth, so that it requires but a small amount of labor from even a child of twelve to obtain an abundance of floral growth, while with the man or woman who really desires to get the best from nature's storehouse, and uses some care and planning for results, the final result in but the space of one year would be wonderful to the worker, and charming to any devotee of artistic beauty.

There are so many kinds, and so many varieties in each class, that it would be difficult to say what flower leads in the general view of artistic people, but it is undoubtedly admitted that roses, carnations, and chrysanthemums are in the front rank.

What is more beautiful to the sight than to see a home covered with climbing roses, a fragrant and harmoniously blended color scheme of beautiful carnations, or a well planned plot of the queenly chrysanthemums? Does not such a sight brighten the mind, give inspiration, raise the mind above sordid pelf, and help the soul to higher ideals?

I am sure there are very few people in this world who would think and say what a neighbor once said in my hearing, "Well," he said, "the wife and daughter have to grow some flowers, for they think the table is not laid unless they have some posies on it, but we cannot eat them, and I would much rather see potatoes and beans agrowing."

Just so, for the man's low standard of idealism, but if it had not been for that good wife and daughter the husband and father would have become more sordid, and his sense of beauty and brightness was somewhat raised no doubt, though unknown to him, while the wife and daughter were satisfying their souls with the higher sense of artistic beauty from nature's storehouse.

But they were adding something more that would have appealed to his obscure sense of material living, but which he could not see, they were adding to the material financial value of that home daily by their love of flowers.

We have the wonderful creations of Burbank, that wizard of floral beauties, in addition to many other less known experts, but I can assure anyone they can obtain just the finest specimens from any good plant if they will give but some good care in right application of water and cultivation, the last mentioned being the greater for nature's products.

A lady in this city told me recently she had a rose tree that grew eighteen feet in one season, which proves not only the excellency of the soil, but the right management in supplying moisture and cultivation to the plant by this artistic and beauty-loving lady.

In addition to the aesthetic beauty, harmonious blending, beautiful color schemes, and soul inspiring thoughts attained by means of a little labor and planning in that direction, the final result has been proven times without number that the effect brings a sure financial return to the value of the home, and makes any humble dwelling a place of beauty and a joy for ever, and by means of the simplest and most abundant things, "Nature's Smiles."

Tuesday Afternoon Club

The Tuesday Afternoon Club held its regular meeting on June 10th at the Masonic hall. A goodly number of members and guests were present. The business meeting passed over quickly owing to the number of children present to hear the program, which was mostly by the little ones themselves.

The president, Mrs. Raymond S. Chase, stated the Tuesday Club had always done things well and the year was closing without a debt and the same amount in the treasury as was on the first of the club year. The club lot on Fifth and Kenwood is entirely paid for and a good nest egg left toward the building fund. Mrs. J. W. Usilton and Mrs. E. W. Kinney are the committee to receive money for this fund. Mrs. Daniel Campbell gave a very interesting report on the year's program.

She said in part:

We have been very fortunate in having no disappointments during the year, as all the programs arranged September, 1912, were carried out, only that of April 8th, when we expected Mr. Giblyn, but our own members, Mrs. Temple and Miss Shropshire, helped us very delightfully.

We have been honored with lectures and talks by Mrs. L. J. Stabler, Mrs. Herron, Mrs. Josiah E. Cowles, Mrs. Baurhyte, Mrs. Colman (the Jane Addams of Los Angeles), Mrs. R. Hutchinson, also Hon. Robert Watchhorn and E. J. Lickley, all of Los Angeles, to whom we are deeply indebted as they very kindly gave their time and talents without any cost to us.

Philanthropic Day showed us that we are really doing something for those less fortunate than ourselves, and this committee is doing a grand and noble work, proving that the more we do and give to others the more true happiness we experience in our own lives. The program committee cannot begin to thank the president and members who so kindly and lovingly assisted them in finding singers and giving us words of encouragement and praise.

Today, Children's Day, is it not the best of all? What would our lives be, our homes be, without the children?

As club women (not militant suffragettes) but earnest women, seeking to broaden our outlook and make us better mothers, more helpful to those we love and all around us.

A mother is more than a queen as she has the training of those who are going to be the men and women of tomorrow.

Let us do our God-given work well, for who knows but from some home among us may come an Abraham Lincoln, a George Washington or a Florence Nightengale? We indeed acknowledge God's guiding hand in all our programs and we return Him thanks for all His goodness. We realize there is much we might have done, but we have tried to do our best, and if some of our dear fellow members have felt disappointed in some of the programs we ask that they will overlook it and determine to suggest helpful things and encourage the new program committee as you have helped us.

The present moment is divinely sent,
The present duty is thy Master's will.
Oh, thou who longest for some noble work,
Do thou this hour thy given task fulfill!
And thou shalt find, though small at first it seemed,
It is the work of which thou oft has dreamed.

The banquet for the garden party is to be held June 24, at La Ramada and arrangements for same was left in the hands of the board, who will decide on the bill of fare and the price per plate each is to pay. Every member is to be present if possible. The new officers will be installed at this time and the gavel turned over to the new president, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones. Mrs. E. W. Richardson stated that the Tropico Sentinel stood for high ideals and the club ladies are likewise working and giving of their time to bring about better conditions and a higher civilization, and the Sentinel wants to labor with them in this work, and it wants their friendship and co-operation, and the Sentinel will be only too glad to inform the general public of their labors if they will furnish the Sentinel not only with the club notes, but with all other items that will be of interest and benefit to the community. The program was as follows:

Eleven little tots from the private kindergarten of Miss Provolts, 123 Orange, sang two songs.

A violin solo, "Bareole," by Julius Kranz's pupils, Winifred Jones, Helen Beach and Arthur Campbell.

Miss Barbara Kranz, a four-year-old, sang.

Dan Campbell, Jr., rendered the "Simple Confession" and "Chauson de Bercean" most beautifully.

Winifred Jones, violin solo, "Gounod's Serenade." She has studied the violin only four months and does wonderfully.

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones accompanied all the musicians with the piano.

The social hour was enjoyed with its usual good fellowship. When dainty refreshments were served the little ones seemed to enjoy themselves by the expression of their little sunshiny faces and their merry voices.

THE GREAT AMERICAN GAME IS ON AND THE BOYS PROMISE TO PLAY BALL

Sundays Game Saw Tropico Go Down to Defeat but the Boys Are in Nowise Discouraged and Say they are Firmly Determined to Play Real Ball

FROM NOW ON AND THEY EXPECT TO

Practice Faithfully Until they Are in Good Fettle and can Play Team Work for All That's in It. Some Good Plays Made

With one exception the first game of the Tropico baseball club went off in grand style. This exception was, the Tropico boys got "licked."

It must be remembered, however, that this is the first game for the Tropico boys, and since the club was organized they have been putting practically all their time in working on their grounds and have not had time to practice or to learn team work. There were some good plays made Sunday, and it is believed that after the boys have practiced together for a while that they will put up a good game and give the people a run for their money.

It was gratifying to those interested in promoting the baseball club to see the large crowd, which not only came and saw the game, but manifested a deep interest in the play. During the game there were a number of amusing plays, but the game proved unmistakably that the Tropico boys are a good, clean set of youngsters and that they are playing the game for the love of the sport.

Sunday's game started off rather rotten. At the end of the second inning the game stood 3 to 3, but after the second inning the boys settled down and played some pretty good ball for several innings, keeping the score tied until the sixth inning, when the Berlins scored two, and again twice in the ninth. Tropico's weakness seems to be in her batteries, but the grouch says that this will be remedied before next Sunday's game. It must be remembered that the Berlins have been playing "real" ball for some time and are not only in good practice but have good team work. There is no question but that the Berlins have some very good players and deserve credit for the work they did, but just wait a month or so until the Tropico boys get limbered up, and it is a safe bet that they will have to put up a much better game than they did Sunday or there will be a difference in the score at the end of the game.

Gabaig took the honors in batting Sunday and made a good shortstop and played the game for all it was worth. Go to it, Al! But, say, did you see that Berlin boob standing off first dreaming of his girl (that is, if he has one) and then Ukoteer threw to first and Faulkner very gently laid the ball on the boob's back and said, "Run home, you mama's little darling." He went.

The Tropico boys will play Barker Brothers baseball team next Sunday. The game starts at 2:30 p. m. Everybody come and boost! and Boost! and BOOST!

In next week's issue of the Sentinel there will be a complete list of those who have donated toward making the Tropico baseball club a real thing.

The Sentinel will soon lose two of its best workers, Mrs. E. W. Richardson and E. Will Richardson, both of whom have been earnest workers for the Sentinel, will soon leave for their Panama trip and will be absent for about a year. Few people are more earnestly striving for the upbuilding of Tropico than is Mrs. Richardson. She is willing to give not only her time but of her money to any legitimate enterprise that will advance the interests of Tropico. Realizing that one of the very best ways to promote the interest and welfare of any community is a good live newspaper, she and the present editor purchased the Sentinel from the former owner, installed a plant and no one has worked harder to make the Sentinel a success and a credit to the city than has Mrs. Richardson, and even on her trip she expects to keep in close touch with Tropico and the Sentinel and she will often remember the town she loves so well and the readers of the Sentinel will often have the pleasure of enjoying her bright sunny letters from the lands she visits. Will Richardson has been the "Society Man," and that his articles have been well worth reading is evidenced by the avidity with which the young folks have looked forward for each Sentinel.

The turkey trot, the bunny hug, and the tango are no longer looked on with favor at the White House dances, but 17,000 office seekers continue to do the hen-on-a-hot-griddle dance.

In the present state of our yellow press we expect to sight a Japanese fleet off cafe Hearst most any moment now.

Respectively referred to the city's traffic department: Pass a law that when two automobiles meet both shall stop and neither shall start till one has passed the other.

We haven't many angels around Tropico but we do have many of the finest men and women that inhabit this old earth. And it's a mighty fine place to live.

An Inglewood minister recently delivered an address urging young men to marry. The good ministers don't have to do that way in Tropico. No, sir, the Tropico girls are too pretty and attractive for the boys to need any urging. The trouble is just the other way with us.

Frederick Baker, City Attorney, is an applicant for one of the superior judgeships created by the last legislature, with good prospects, so it is said, of landing the prize. Personally, Mr. Baker is a fine fellow and popular with those who know him. Those in a position to judge of Mr. Baker's qualifications are unanimous in the opinion that Governor Johnson could find no better man to fill one of the judgeships, and there are many in this section who will be pleased to hear he has secured the appointment.

On June the first there went into effect a law in Oregon which provides that every male applicant for a marriage license must submit to a medical examination and secure a certificate at a cost of $2.50 before a license will be issued. This is a graft pure and undefiled and hasn't one single thing to recommend it. The good politico-medico doctors put one over on the Oregonians and now they must pay the fiddler. Maybe some day the people will wake up to the fact that these doctors who are always crying for laws to protect the dear people are thinking very much of themselves and d—— little of the people.

By actual count it is a safe bet that a greater proportion of the business men of Tropico advertise than any other town in the state. Why? First, because we have the best set of business men in the state, and they know advertising not only helps them to do a bigger and better business but they know, too, that advertising makes a good live town, and that their advertising enables the Sentinel to be the best paper in the San Fernando Valley, and they know that people read the paper. And greatest of all, the business men are honest, honorable, upright men with high ideals, and are earnestly striving to leave to their children a better civilization than they themselves have had to contend with. They have learned that there is something more in life than the mere acquisition of the dollar. It's good to live among such people.

After investigation it has been officially declared that the late catastrophy at Long Beach was due to a rotten girder. Wonderful, wasn't it? A rotten girder responsible for 38 lives. Long Beach has stultified herself in sending out such an explanation. Some one is in control at Long Beach that is yet living in the past generation. The Long Beach accident is due to that trait of the human race which has in the past and even yet among some sacrifices everything for the love of the dollar. Someone made a few cents more profit by putting in the rotten girder. Cutthroat competition and a willingness to disregard every right, human and divine, is responsible for the accident at Long Beach. The individual should have been discovered and his name given to the world. Such treatment would have been hard on the responsible individual but a few treatments like that would go far to make contractors more particular.

DON'T YOU THINK SO?

Have you not been annoyed and inconvenienced by the unsightly weeds which disfigure so many of the vacant lots in the city? In many places these weeds have grown up and overhang the sidewalks to such an extent that it is impossible for a woman to go along the sidewalk without soiling her skirts.

Is it right that such a condition should exist? Have owners of vacant lots the right to inconvenience those who are increasing the value of their property?

It is the improvements of contiguous property that enhances the value of vacant lots, and are not those who improve and live on their property entitled to some consideration? Should not those who own vacant lots do something to aid in the upbuilding, beautifying and improvement of the city?

Such a little expense or work would go so far in this direction that it does seem as though we might be spared the weed annoyance. Don't you think so?

HE STIRRED UP THE BEASTS.

When President Wilson made the charge that extraordinary efforts were being made to defeat the administration tariff bill and that money was being spent to influence legislation he stirred up a hornets' nest. The old saying that a hit dog yelps seems to apply in this instance.

But it is accepted everywhere as a significant indication of the Administration's attitude toward changes or delays in the Democratic Congressional tariff program. Taking it in connection with President Wilson's earlier statement that he has taken his "stand with the House leaders for the present bill," and is "not looking for or accepting compromises," Washington correspondents view his "lobby warning" as a virtual announcement that he will veto a mutilated measure.

The New York Evening Sun says that President Wilson has not the slightest idea of "going to Winona."

The New York Press says that while President Wilson: "By driving through his tariff measure may cause loss to the American people; but they must respect him for having the same principles after he was elected as he said he had before he was elected, and for fighting for those principles in the White House when members of his party seek to confound them and to repudiate their campaign pledges." And The Sun, whose predilection was for Mr. Taft, now declares itself "quite in agreement with the spirit" of the Wilsonian warning—

"The Senators opposed to the bill have a right to express their dissent in toto or in detail, but dilatory tactics, or talk only for political consumption, or obstructive enterprise, or filibustering of any sort against the Underwood Tariff Bill of 1913 is something which an overwhelming majority of the people of the United States are in no mood to tolerate; and it is just as well that the main fact should be understood with crystalline clearness at the Senate end of the Capitol."

The President's "demand for prompt and final action" opens with a reaffirmation of that reliance upon "publicity" which has been so notable a feature of his political acts. He says:

"I think that the public ought to know the extraordinary exertions being made by the lobby in Washington to gain recognition for certain alterations of the Tariff Bill. Washington has seldom seen so numerous, so industrious, or so insidious a lobby. The newspapers are being filled with paid advertisements calculated to mislead not only the judgment of public men, but also the public opinion of the country itself. There is every evidence that money without limit is being spent to sustain this lobby, and to create an appearance of a pressure of public opinion antagonistic to some of the chief items of the Tariff Bill.

"It is of serious interest to the country that the people at large should have no lobby, and be voiceless in these matters, while great bodies of astute men seek to create an artificial opinion and to overcome the interests of the public for their private profit. It is thoroughly worth the while of the people of this country to take knowledge of this matter. Only public opinion can check and destroy it.

"The Government in all its branches ought to be relieved from this intolerable burden and this constant interruption to the calm progress of debate. I know that in this I am speaking for the members of the two houses, who would rejoice as much as I would to be released from this unbearable situation."

Without actually contradicting the President, the Boston Transcript reminds him that if he were not a newcomer, "he would not be astonished at the appearance of an energetic lobby interested in the Tariff Bill," for "scenes of activity" such as this "have always attended the making of a tariff."

joke and phoned from Oroville.

L. G. Johnson, Deputy State Forester, presented the subject of "Forestry in Our Public Schools." Under Waterways, Mrs. Emily Hoppin and Judge Short of Fresno gave interesting and instructive addresses. Home Economics was presented by Miss Rich of the Santa Barbara Normal School. New Public Health Legislation was presented by Dr. George W. Tucker of Riverside.

Civil Service Reform, Hon. Chester H. Powell gave a stirring address. Mrs. H. Stockwell presented the "Phycopathic Parole" question.

Under Industrial and Social Conditions, Supervised Dancing and What Clubs Might do as Social Centers were presented by Mrs. Cora Lewis and Mrs. Fiescher, who were enthusiastic and interesting speakers.

Legislation was presented most earnestly and fully by the chairman, Mrs. George E. Swan. Each chairman had an hour for her department.

The resolutions were not very numerous, nor did they cover many subjects. Under Waterways, a resolution was passed recommending that the supplementary lists in the German Groves and John L. Mathews "Conservation of Waters" be placed in High School Libraries.

The President, Mrs. J. W. Orr, gave a scholarly and instructive address, which was enthusiastically received.

Professor Kriebel of Stanford held their interested attention forty-five minutes with his address "War—The Problem of Our Day." He spoke enthusiastically of the women voters of the State, urging his audience to look to the future rather than to the past.

The local Biennial Board reported their work, and turned over the balance on hand (about $1500) to the Sarah Platt Decker Memorial Fund.

The Clubhouse Loan Fund had raised the $500 this year. The chairman recommended that the clubs not contributing last year, only be asked to contribute this year. There is in the General Treasury about $2500 at present.

Miss Edna Rich of the Santa Barbara State Normal School gave an interesting outline of what her work stands for in the betterment of social conditions. She suggested that the daughters of club women be given student fees of membership, that they may enjoy the club life.

Wednesday evening was District Presidents' Evening, when each president presented her district at its best; at this time the Fresno Chamber of Commerce invited the Clubs to participate in a "Raisin Day" celebration; more greetings were extended; a fine program of songs given; and souvenir cartons of raisins and two souvenir post cards were distributed.

Thursday evening began with a half hour of music, which was followed by a stereopticon lecture on Playgrounds.

At the Hotel Fresno, the Down and Outs' banquet presented again two evenings of unusual merriment, where were gathered one hundred and sixty guests for social pleasure and a good time, with a program of humorous speeches.

There were many automobile rides about town; one of the most enjoyable was an eleven mile drive through an eucalyptus and palm lined avenue to the Kearney Park, which, after Mr. Kearney's death, was given to the University of California for an experimental farm.

On Saturday, parties were going out to some historical points. About ninety went to the Yosemite, but your delegates left Friday night for home on special train.

CLUB NOTES.

The Thursday Afternoon Club met at the home of Mrs. Chas. H. Phillips, 335 S. San Fernando road. Mrs. Wayland Brown and Mrs. Charles P. Tinley assisting Mrs. Phillips. Many invitations to visit other clubs and exhibits were received.

A goodly number of new members were added to the club.

The two delegates to the California Federated Women's Clubs gave their reports.

Mrs. Claudia Griswold gave hers in full, which was very interesting; but owing to the late hour Mrs. Ella Richardson gave an account of the funny happenings and promised to give the report through the Tropico Sentinel, which is as follows:

The Fresno Convention of the C. F. W. C. was one of the most successful ever held. There were about 300 delegates, and more than three hundred alternates and visitors. The hotel accommodations were excellent, the assembly hall ample, near the hotels, and next door to the Parlor Lecture Clubhouse, where the various committees assembled.

Fresno is a spacious, beautiful, and growing city. The hospitality, generous and cordial, giving one a welcome, and an at-home feeling. The mayor and the president of the Chamber of Commerce extended greetings at the first evening reception, the latter presenting a souvenir gavel, upon the silver mountings of which was inscribed words of welcome. Following these exercises, the officers of the Federation received what seemed to be an endless chain of delegates and visitors.

The Convention convened in the W. O. W. hall. The first exercise was a discussion of the constitutional amendments, redistricting and the reorganization of committees, which should be considered by the clubs later.

Every officer and chairman of committees were present. The work of the convention was exceedingly well planned and remarkably well presented by the different chairmen, showing in an effective way the amount of work being carried on by the departments and the importance and significance of each.

If I could place a program in your hands you would be able to see at a glance the personnel of the program and the interesting and attractive subjects considered by each speaker. Under Art, the Hon. John E. D. Trask presented the "Fine Arts Plan of the Exposition." Music, Mr. Chas. Edson of Los Angeles suggested work along the line of music for clubs, and Mrs. Logohothan rendered several musical numbers very acceptably.

Mrs. A. A. Goddard, Vice President of the State Federation, was the chief speaker under philanthropy.

Under education, Mrs. Cheeney of the W. C., General Federation Chairman, Mrs. Shephard Barnum, and Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles Pierce gave stirring addresses.

Following Education was Conservation of Forestry and Waterways, Mrs. Jones, Forestry Chairman, varied the program by eliciting a burst of laughter because she wore birds of Paradise feathers, while speaking against the wearing of feathers on women's hats. Her husband enjoyed the

HAPPENINGS

Mrs. W. E. Burk, 525 Central Avenue, who leaves next Wednesday for Colorado where she will spend the summer, will be at home to her friends on Saturday afternoon. No invitations will be issued buf all friends will call to bid her goodbye.

Frank P. Fury and wife of Alameda have been visiting friends and relatives in Southern California the past month and spent last Saturday in Tropico.

Mrs. Herbert W. Whitworth of Berkeley, having just returned from New York, is spending the month of June with Mrs. Charles H. Phillips of San Fernando Road.

The Hartigan home on Oak Drive was sold last week to Wm. Carpenter of Tropico; consideration $3250. The deal was handled through the Andy Stephenson real estate firm.

Captain Charles Paradis of the Audrey N., Avalon, spent Saturday in Tropico visiting friends. While in the city he was taken for an automobile ride around the valley. Paradis says no matter how "tempestuous" the rolling deep may become he feels at home, but when he gets on the larboard side of one of these pesk autos that it makes him feel seasick and nervous.

Mrs. H. Normandy states that she has succeeded in getting a lot on which to move the portable house which she erected on Mira Loma through a mistake, and that this house will be moved in a short time. The delay has been caused in getting title to the lot fixed up.

One of the best donations to the Tropico baseball club was that of the Star Theater. On next Thursday evening, the 19th, the theater will be turned over to the club and all the money taken in on that night will be given to the boys, and if you are a baseball booster, prove it!

Walter Elon Westlake died at his home at 1147 West Tenth street, Tropico, on June 4. Mr. Westlake was 39 years of age and had lived in Tropico for the past year. He had been in ill health for several years and came to Tropico with the hopes of it benefiting him, which it did for a time. He was well known, both in Los Angeles and Tropico. He leaves a wife, one sister, Mrs. Clements residing on Eulalie avenue, and parents who live at Columbus and Oak streets, Glendale. Services were held at the residence, June 7, at 2 p. m. and interment at Forest Lawn Cemetery, Pulliam Bros. conducting the funeral. A large number of relatives and friends mourn the irreparable loss and the sympathy of the community is conveyed to the sorrowing family.

On next Tuesday the Ladies' Aid Society of the Tropico Methodist Church will hold a gala day at which time they will participate in breaking of the ground at Park and Central avenues where the new church will be erected. This affair will be by invitation and refreshments will be served by the ladies at this time.

Mrs. Harry Sawtelle tendered Mrs. W. G. Mead of Gardena a farewell party Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Mead will leave shortly for Alhambra and, owing to Mr. Mead's business, will make that city their home for a time.

J. H. Webster, wife and kiddies, accompanied by the little Wattles and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wattles, made a trip Sunday in the big Webster forty-horsepower Marion to the Arroyo Seco. Mr. Webster says that on a voyage of discovery they ran into a big sand bed, but that the big car went right through without a hitch. On Decoration Day Mr. Webster ran his car 150 miles on seven and one-half gallons of gasoline, an average of twenty miles to the gallon, a record for a forty-horsepower touring car.

The Cherokee Club gave one of their famous formal balls at the K. P. Hall last Friday which is still the talk of the town. About fifty couples enjoyed the music and dancing and the intermission banquet at the Society Shop, where pastry, creams and ices were served which put the cheer in Cherokee.

Mrs. S. J. Knowles of Highland Park, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. H. H. Coles of Gardena for the last three weeks, returned home Monday.

Friday evening a merry crowd of young people were entertained at the Orpheum theater by the Tropico Sentinel. The party consisted of Misses Mary Jane Evans Hough, Alpha Clement, Ruth Brown, Barbara Mitchell, Lydia Perro, Fraie Morse, Ray Davis, Irene Grady; Messrs. Louis Leppleman, Vernon Snively, E. Will Richardson, Jim Gibson, Burt Richardson, Robert A. Oliver, Charles Wells and Thomas Thornton.

Miss Luella Moore was surprised by her G. U. H. S. classmates of '10 with a shower of table linen Saturday afternoon at a luncheon given at the home of Miss Lillian Ellias. The invited guests were Misses Luella Moore, Eva Utter, Mary Utter Scantland, Harriet Nichols, Margaret Nichols, Amy Johnson, Frances Jackson, Emily Ellias and Elizabeth Clark of Kentucky, who spent her Senior year of high school at Glendale.

Mr. C. B. Powell, chief clerk in the general offices of the Chicago and Alton Railroad at East St. Louis, has been visiting Southern California, and Mr. J. H. Webster has been showing him some of the beauties of Tropico and telling him some of the advantages this section offers. Mr. Powell expresses himself as being exceptionally well impressed with Tropico and Glendale—and who wouldn't be!

PLEASING AND BEAUTIFUL

The sign of standing room only could have been hung on the door of the auditorium of the Glendale High last Thursday evening an hour before the exercises began.

The room was beautifully decorated with immense stalks of hollyhocks, a profusion of ferns and trailing vines.

The occasion was the closing exercises of the Tropico Grammar School and the friends and patrons were present in large numbers to witness one of the prettiest commencement exercises ever given.

The first number was a drill by fourteen girls, Spring Garlands, and from the time the first girl appeared until the last couple disappeared round after round of applause greeted them.

They were costumed in yellow, blue, lavendar, pink and white and carried garlands of roses and went through the different figures of the drill like experienced soldiers.

It seemed that it was fairyland and that the daffodils, lilacs, forget-me-nots, pinks and daisies were holding high carnival, but instead of the flowers marching stately and sedate it was the pretty young ladies of the Tropico schools.

The music for this drill was played by Miss Louise Bondy, one of the graduates, and was her own composition. The next number was a little operetta entitled "The Smuggleman" and was well rendered. The work of the large number of children was very good and showed long and careful training by the teachers.

Little Helen Frankland as Maid of the Mist, a dancing fairy, reminded one of a sure enough fairy as she flittered with her gauzy wings, and Iris Nofziger as Little Miss Muffet brought forth much applause.

Mr. M. C. Bettinger, assistant superintendent of the Los Angeles city schools, addressed the graduating class. Mr. Bettinger's address was not the stereotyped discourse usually delivered to graduating classes. He told them he was going to tell them what life was to him and what made a lovely and an unlovely old age. He likened life to a moving picture and the impression of things good and beautiful on the films made old age lovely and vice versa. In closing he said: "I am going to quote from a speech of W. J. Bryan. 'If you have a mind to help do the world's work you cannot stay too long in school nor have too much education.'"

Mr. Bettinger then presented diplomas to the following members of the graduating class:

Lucile Adlaide Bondy, Louise Moniot, George H. Cate, Homer K. Morgan, Lyla Ellen Cate, William Pahland, Harwood Collins, Catherine Phillips, Russel D. Harrison, Lillie Mae Shick, Marjorie Adelaide Imler, Cranford Spear, Leslie Kepler, Rafael Verdugo and Celine Moniot.

After the diplomas were presented, Mr. Bettinger called Mrs. McClure, the principal of the school, and said: "For seven years these pupils have answered to your roll call 'present.' I now answer for them 'present,' and present you with a present from the class as a token of appreciation of your untiring efforts in their behalf." The present was a beautiful Persian ivory clock and vase.

Then came the presentation of flowers. The members of the graduating class could scarcely be seen for the beautiful blossoms banked around them, one member receiving twenty-seven bouquets. This made a handsome picture and one that probably could not be seen anywhere outside of sunny California.

The class has crossed the first line in their education with the motto "Where there's a will there's a way," and, if followed, will lead them through the labyrinth of school life until they are ready to take their place as men and women in that great arena known as the world's work.

THE WATER QUESTION.

In compliance with the editor's request for an expression of ideas on the water question, I would like to say a few words. It is certainly the most important question before the people of Tropico at the present time.

It seems to me there are only two courses open, either for the city to secure the Tropico portion of the water system now held by the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, or to make arrangements for securing Owens River water from Los Angeles. A bond issue would be necessary in either case.

I believe that the Owens River proposition should be just as carefully looked into by the investigating committee as the water system. Any definite action taken before we know just exactly what the Owens River proposition is to be would be precipitate.

The right of Los Angeles to all the water in the valley has been established by court decisions. Cannot this right be enforced and the people of the valley thus compelled to buy water of Los Angeles?

Although the original cost might be greater, would not the Owens River water be cheaper in the end, being gravity flow, whereas in the present system we would have the expense of running a pumping plant and forcing the water uphill?

If we secured the Owens River water the present company would presumably not be able to meet the Owens River rates (even if allowed to pump at all), and therefore there would be no competition to contend with.

These questions I should like to see answered by competent and disinterested parties and a careful comparison made between the advantages and disadvantages of the two propositions.

Of course all those in any way interested in the bonds of the Glendale Consolidated Water Company would like to have Tropico buy the present system, and is it not possible that the real reason why the company is so slow about making improvements and developments is that they see "the handwriting on the wall" and realize that the advent of Owens River water will soon affect the value of their holdings?

CHAS. H. CUSHING.

The Sentinel will endeavor to have Mr. Cushing's questions answered by those best qualified to do so. Let's keep up the good work!

the Underslung Way

The ratio of "safety" in opposition to the tendency to "turn turtle" depends upon the height of the center of gravity from the road. In other words, the lower the center of gravity the safer the car and the more perfect its riding ability. The average car is balanced above the axles. In the

Underslung REGAL

The weight is carried within and beneath the axles, or slung below. This mitigates against "skidding" and turns can be made safely.

The Greater Degree of Safety

Regal Underslung Cars, as compared with those which employ the usual type of construction, indicate a considerably greater degree of safety as proven by actual tests.

YE TWAIN SHALL BE ONE.

"I will, therefore, that the younger women marry." 1 Tim. V:14.

As the human race slowly emerged from the darkness of primitive civilization the marriage ceremony was evolved. Those races which have carried civilization to its highest plane have ever been the race or people that held the marriage relation in the most sacred reverence.

The Anglo-Saxons stand preeminent as a people who as a race have ever upheld the home and the homemakers as the very foundation on which the bulwarks of its civilization was erected. Each advancing stage has seen increased protection thrown around the home and planted in the breast of every true scion of the Anglo-Saxon is a love for home and children.

This being true, a young couple who join their lives in wedlock have the good wishes and best hopes of all.

Last Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hough, 619 Central avenue, was witnessed the rites and ceremonies that united the lives of Frank Glenn Craig of Burbank and Mable Marie Evans Hough.

This young couple are exceptionally popular and the number of friends present was limited only by the capacity of the spacious rooms of the Hough home. These rooms had been artistically and beautifully decorated with flowers and ferns and presented a most attractive appearance. One side of the reception room was adorned with ferns and flowers to represent a waterfall; in front of this was an immense bell, beneath which the wedding couple stood while the beautiful ring ceremony was performed in the impressive and graceful manner usual with the Rev. C. B. Hatch of the Presbyterian church.

The large gathering of well-groomed men and handsomely gowned women were in the happiest of moods and as the bridal couple came down the stairs and took their places beneath the bell of flowers and ferns they were surrounded by a very wall of love and happiness. Old life long friends and new friends vied with each other in doing everything to make the occasion a happy one.

The two bridesmaids, Miss Mary Evans Hough and Miss Dorothy Hobbs, were lovely in some kind of a shimmering pink creation and there were more young men present than the groom had dreamed.

Little Mable Todd was ring-bearer and as she came in carrying the ring imbedded in a rose lying on a flower-decked basket she looked a veritable little fairy. The flower girls, Mary Logan and Dorothy Carmack, were lovely little tots, fit symbols of such an occasion.

Miss Katherin Hobbs was the maid of honor and one would have to go far to find a fairer maid or one who would lend more grace and charm.

The bride was gowned in an exquisite and tasty chiffon, trimmed in handsome lace and adorned with diamonds and brilliants and looked so sweet and lovely that after Rev. Mr. Hatch had said the benediction every man present wanted to claim the privilege of an old friends and kiss the bride and no one but the groom could or did blame them.

Glenn looked alright, it is supposed, but who wants to look at a groom when there is a lovely blushing bride to feast one's eyes on.

Mr. Raymond Swain was best man and Miss Stella Miller, Mr. Richard S. Todd, Mr. E. Will Richardson, Mr. Noble Ripley and Mr. Ray Ludlow were generallisimos and did everything just right and at the right moment to make everything move smoothly and harmoniously.

During the ceremony the beautiful strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March floated through the rooms, the piano being played by Miss George Duffet.

It seems that Mr. Craig in the past has been given very much to practical jokes and his friends conceived this a good time to even up old scores and an effort was made to kidnap the groom after the ceremony and take him for a forced and prolonged automobile ride, but long practice in the past had made Glenn dexterous and suspicious and the designs of these friends were foiled although at one time it looked for a few minutes as though the bride would spend at least a part of the honeymoon minus the groom.

This marriages unite two old San Fernando Valley families and there's many a sincere and heartfelt wish for the future happiness and success of this young couple who have started on their most important journey under such happy and auspicious circumstances.

Refreshments were served from the Society Shop, Glendale, and were dainty and appetizing. Mr. and Mrs. Craig will be at home to their friends after July 1 in Burbank.

HOUSEHOLD SHOW VERY ATTRACTIVE.

A special invitation was extended to the members of the Thursday Afternoon Club of Tropico to visit one of the most unique exhibitions ever witnessed in Los Angeles at the Parmelee-Dohrmann Company on Monday. The "Household Show," as the exhibition was styled, has been continued for another week.

Many leading factories sent exhibits with experts to explain their new articles. A special feature was an exhibition of the newest electric household accessories for lighting, cooking, heating, washing and house cleaning. There were over twenty booths showing hundreds of "little aids" for the kitchen.

The greater part of the store's main floor has been given up to a series of demonstration booths, each containing an entirely different class of household, kitchen and serving utensils new in character and practical in merit. So, for instance, one booth is entirely given up to electrical heating and cooking devices. Everything from an electrical toaster to a stove and chafing dish are shown in the variety of shape and style.

Another booth, crowded with vistiors at most all times, is the one where Manning-Bowman are showing a full line of coffee percolators, chafing dishes and the like. In the "Novelty Booth" every utensil shown is a distinct novelty.

The aluminum booth, showing everything from a 10-cent mold up to the largest kettles and pans, give a very good idea of the wondrous range of cooking utensils in this metal.

Vacuum cleaners, fireless cookers and other appliances more or less familiar to the housekeeper all form additional attractions.

TO HAVE LIGHTS.

A lighting district has been formed of that territory lying north of the Burbank line to the mountains, and Brand's on the west to Louise street, and the inhabitants have voted a tax amounting to $1 on the $100 for installation charges and 10 cents for maintenance.

The supervisors are expected to order the work commenced at an early date. About six miles of the system will be underground cables. The district was organized under the state law which authorizes unincorporated communities to tax themselves for lighting purposes.

G. A. R. AND W. R. C. ATTENTION!

It is very important that all members of the N. P. Banks G. A. R. and W. R. C. be present at the regular meeting of the W. R. C. on Friday, June 13, at 2 o'clock. Arrangements are to be made for participating in the Flag Day parade in the city.

BOLD, BRAVE HUNTERS.

Ten of Tropico's boldest hunters went forth Sunday to the jungles of Tuna Canyon and killed more time that day than they ever did before. At least that is the report. They left about 6:30 in the morning, and after they got settled down in Bill Wibeletz's joy wagon, began telling stories about how good the deer were in Tuna Canyon, and Bill Wibeletz said that he could kill more deer in five minutes than the whole party could bag in a day.

Wibeletz and Manuel Carpi picked the chickens, and my, O my, how they did taste after Charley Hunter got through cooking them. Didn't know it was in Charley to do it, did you? After everybody had filled up to their hearts' content, they decided to do some target practice and see if Bill Wibeletz could really shoot. Some of the boys stuck a mountain up at a distance of fifty yards and the best he could do was to hit one side of it.

However, Bill proved that he had more artistic taste in his noodle than the others had. He decorated his joy wagon with "yucca" pines, and he did it so good that everybody who saw the homecoming thought it was Barnum and Bailey's band wagon.

Those who went and came back safe are the following: C. L. Jennings, J. W. Gould, D. C. Lovell, Wayne V. Frank, Manuel Carpi, Charley Hunter, Bill Wibeletz, Ed Fairfield, Lafie Ross and J. Ledger.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Saturday afternoon Glendale High School played its final ball game, with Pasadena High School at Alhambra. These two schools were playing off a tie on neutral grounds, which led us to defeat and Pasadena to championship of that section of the league. The game was a hard one all through and the score which followed was 10 to 3.

Last Saturday evening, in the K. of P. hall, Glendale, a dance was given by the Juniors of the high school. This was an outing dance and the young people were dressed in white, which gave a very pleasing appearance in the beautifully decorated hall. A large number attended and a good time was enjoyed by all. Music was furnished by Imes' orchestra and refreshments were served by the Society Shop.

STILL TRYING.

In last week's issue there was a letter from a Tropico lady, niece of a resident, who with her husband has been since April 7 trying to get to a prominent mining camp in Mexico. Since the last issue the following letter has been received by the lady's aunt. After two months constant travel the travelers are, in miles, just about as far from their destination as when they left Tropico in April. The following was written from Mexico City:

"Well, here, at last, we are in Mexico City after so long a time. I have written you from all along the route we have traveled so as to keep you informed as regards our progress.

"We spent last night in Vera Cruz, left there at five o'clock this morning and arrived here this evening at eight. I was pretty tired. We have traveled so much with no rest we feel wobbly most of the time.

"The scenery from Vera Cruz to the City is perfectly beautiful and noted the world over. The first part is very tropical, the last mountainous.

"Mexico City is simply lovely and I would like to live here in spite of bombardments and ressurectos. Nearly all evidences of the fray have been patched up, but there are still some fine houses minus steeples and shattered with bullet holes of all sizes and shapes.

"We are to leave early Wednesday morning for —— and I am so anxious to get back there, for I know my things are in a fearful mess. It rains in the City every afternoon at this season of the year, and this is very pleasant for the people who live here, but very unpleasant for the visitor. I will be glad to get to a warmer place as it is quite cool at this time.

"Notwithstanding all the hardships and annoyances, the trip has been laughable in many ways, except I have no clothes and I will not buy a lot of truck I can not use afterwards. As you know, Vera Cruz is in the tropics and one of the hottest of hot places, yet before we reached Mexico City we ran into a snow and hail storm and the mountains were white with snow. It has hailed here twice since we arrived, and this is the month of May in Southern Mexico.

"The flowers are beautiful, however, in spite of the cold weather and we hate to go back to that —— horrid in the tierra sierra country. I suppose the mail you send me will come around by the way of Mexico City, Havana, New Orleans, and so forth, and that it will take ages for me to hear from any of my California friends.

"I suppose you are gazing at the Glendale mountains this morning and enjoying the balminess of Tropico—that little place is a darling.

"Adios,
"A TROPICAN."

RECOMMENDS THE PLAN

The committee of 30 appointed by the mass meeting to investigate the different propositions looking to increasing the Union High School facilities, met Tuesday evening at the High School building to receive the report of the sub-committee appointed to look into the advisability of purchasing the half block of ground east of the present school property. The committee as a whole, after considering the matter from all its different phases, finally on motion passed a resolution unanimously endorsing the plans as outlined by the school trustees, and the resolution will be presented to the mass meeting to be called Tuesday the 17th, at the High School building.

Misses Elloise and Jeannette Seaman spent Sunday with their aunt, Mrs. A. H. Sellaers of Pasadena.
